Now since members of the last Administrative Operations Course graduated on April 8, I wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your participation in the course on April 7.

As has been formerly revealed in critiques submitted at the end of the course by students, the session at CIA was one of the highlights of the eight-week program. I attribute this in large measure to your most effective leadership during the session in which you gave a most interesting lecture followed by a panel discussion with members of your organizations. The contact which members of the Administrative Operations Course have with representatives of CIA should be of mutual benefit to the Agency and the Department. Many misconceptions have been eradicated and misunderstandings dispelled through such frank discussions.

We hope that we may continue to have your interest and support of this particular course.

Sincerely yours,

Wayne A. Swedenburg
Course Chairman
School of Foreign Affairs
Foreign Service Institute
